ALLIGATOR

Alligators are harvested from the wild once a year in September and October and farm raised throughout the year. The choicest cut is the tail meat. Leg and body meat is good for jambalayas, soups and stews. Only Alligator meat that has been farm raised can be sold or consumed in California by state law.

ALPACA

Alpaca meat is one of the healthiest and most flavorful meats in the world. It is described as a mild meat which takes on the flavor of the dish. It is slightly salty, tender & lean, high in protein with no fatty after taste. Alpaca meat also has the lowest level of cholesterol of any meat. Cook quickly on a high heat to retain the natural tenderness. For the best results, alpaca meat should be served rare or medium and allowed to rest before serving.

DURHAM RANCH NATURAL BEEF

It's natural for our Durham Ranch families to raise healthy animals holistically and sustainably. Durham Ranch Natural Beef comes directly from family Ranches across the corn belt of America's Heartland. These families take great pride in growing cattle without the use of hormones or antibiotics. The cattle roam on open pasture while grazing on grass and are finished on vegetarian-based grain silage. The result is a level of quality and consistency chefs and connoisseurs demand.
