ALLIGATOR

Alligators are harvested from the wild once a year in September/October in Louisiana, and year-round in Florida. They are farm raised throughout the year in Louisiana as well. The choicest cut is the tail meat. Leg and body meat is good for jambalayas, soups and stews. Only alligator meat that has been farm raised can be sold or consumed in California by state law.

DURHAM RANCH WAGYU BEEF

Durham Ranch Wagyu cattle are never administered hormones or antibiotic growth promotants and are humanely treated. Most American Wagyu, also known as American Style Kobe Beef, are a cross between full blood Japanese Wagyu and either Red or Black American Angus or Charolais. Durham Ranch Wagyu are born and raised in North America and consist of a minimum of 50% full blood Wagyu Beef. Exquisite and luxurious, the Durham Ranch Wagyu experience is indescribable. Wagyu's white lattice marbling creates a juiciness and tenderness sophisticated American chefs demand. Unexpectedly, the fat makeup of Wagyu is primarily unsaturated fat; often making Wagyu cuts healthier than many USDA Prime beef products.

PORK

DURHAM RANCH BERKSHIRE PORK

The world's best pork. For over 300 years, the Berkshire hogs have been recognized as producing supreme quality gourmet pork known as "Korubuta", or Black Pig, in Japan. The superior taste of Berkshire Pork is as prized as Kobe Beef. Durham Ranch contracts the Berkshire hogs directly from growers. We specify with the growers the weight limitation and the number of head produced each week. We stand on the side of our customers by verifying that the animals are 100% pure Berkshire breed, are grown under proper conditions, and that no hormone was added at any stage of growth.

RABBIT

DURHAM RANCH NATURAL RABBIT

Rabbit has been known for centuries as one of most efficient, cleanest and healthiest meats. They produce approximately six pounds of meat with the same feed and water it takes a steer to produce one pound of meat. Raised on small family farms in the Midwest, Durham Ranch Rabbits are fed a combination of grains, plant protein and alfalfa, and are raised without the use of antibiotic growth promotants, hormones or animal bi-products. Rabbits have virtually no fat and are very high in protein
